BOSTON (August 16, 2024)— The Schwartz Center for Compassionate Healthcare, a leading nonprofit dedicated to making compassion a vital element of healthcare worldwide, is pleased to announce the appointment of Glenn Pomerantz, MD, JD, to its board of directors, and of current member Jean-Paul A. Rebillard to the role of board chair.

Dr. Pomerantz brings a wealth of experience and expertise to the Schwartz Center's mission. As the chief medical officer at Point32Health, he oversees Enterprise Clinical Strategy and Innovation, Quality and Accreditation, Medical Policy, Utilization Management, Provider Contracting, Pharmacy, Care Management and the Harvard Pilgrim Health Care Institute, which includes the Department of Population Medicine at Harvard Medical School. Point32Health is a leading nonprofit health and well-being organization.

"We are delighted to welcome Dr. Pomerantz to our board," said Michael Gustafson, MD, MBA, chief executive officer of the Schwartz Center. "His extensive background in healthcare leadership, quality improvement, and clinical excellence will be invaluable as we work to advance compassionate care as a national priority."

Prior to his current role, Dr. Pomerantz served as chief medical officer at C2i Genomics, a company pioneering cancer monitoring through blood testing for better treatment, progression, and recurrence insights. He has also held leadership positions at Gateway Health in Pittsburgh, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota, Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Jersey, Aetna, and Cigna. Additionally, he previously served as an instructor of medicine at Harvard Medical School and spent thirteen years as a practicing physician.

Jean-Paul A. Rebillard has been a member of the Board of Directors since 2018, and has served as Vice Chair for the past two years. Jean-Paul is the President of MedPro Specialty at MedPro Group, a Berkshire Hathaway company. He leads a business that delivers customized insurance, claims, and risk management solutions to hospitals, senior care providers, healthcare facilities, and healthcare professionals throughout the United States. Prior to joining MedPro in 2014, Jean-Paul spent more than 14 years at Marsh, a leading global insurance broker and risk advisor, serving clients in healthcare and other industries. His insurance career began at the Pennsylvania Mcare Fund in 1995, following several years in marketing and management consulting.

"Jean-Paul's strategic vision and deep understanding of the healthcare landscape align perfectly with our mission," said Dr. Gustafson. "We are honored to have him as our new Board Chair and look forward to his contributions."

"The Schwartz Center is uniquely positioned to advance compassion for patients, care teams, and their healing relationships," said Mr. Rebillard. "I am honored and excited to support the Schwartz Center's important work."

With these leadership changes, the Schwartz Center for Compassionate Healthcare continues to strengthen its commitment to championing compassionate, patient-centered care through innovative programs, advocacy, and research.

About the Schwartz Center for Compassionate Healthcare

The Schwartz Center for Compassionate Healthcare is a healthcare organization whose mission is to put compassion at the heart of healthcare.

We have more than 600 members in the US, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, including hospitals, long-term care facilities, and other healthcare organizations, and nearly 300 healthcare organizations conducting our programs through a partner in the United Kingdom and Ireland. Through them, we have positively impacted hundreds of thousands of caregivers and patients across nearly every healthcare setting.

Since our founding in 1995, healthcare organizations rely on our programs, education, and resources to support care team well-being and mental health, enhance the quality of care, enable better outcomes, and create a more positive experience for patients and their care teams.

We partner with healthcare organizations and systems to achieve a shared vision of a world where all who seek and provide care experience compassion.
